

from all across the world

Jelena Vukša, junior international business and marketing major of Landskrona, Sweden, plays handball in the Red Wolf Center, a popular sport in Europe. Jelena chose to study abroad for the semester and chose an American school because the activities offered along with the sports, appealed to her. Jelena plans on only attending this semester, but if she likes it will return for the spring semester.

“My favorite things to do in Jonesboro are to go to Craighead Forest Park and go out to Hiro and Andy’s with my team. The best thing about A-State is the awesome Student Union and the new tennis facility. Jonesboro is a very small town compared to the city I am from. But the thing that makes Jonesboro cool is that you can meet people from all over the world here.”
 –Daria Yurchenko, junior sports management and international business major from Russia.

“My favorite things to do at A-State are hang out with my friends, go out for dinner, go shopping and chill on campus. My favorite part of A-State is my team, they are like my family to me. Jonesboro is very different compared to home. Jonesboro is a small city for me. I am from a big city in Germany so I had to get used to this. Also the food is very different.”
 –Chiara Stefanov, senior international business and finance major from Germany

“My favorite things to do in Jonesboro are hang out with my friends in the cafeteria, go shopping to the mall and watch TV shows in my room. My favorite part of A-State is the food and my teammates. Jonesboro is very different to home because the people here are so friendly and there are a lot more opportunities here compared to back home.”
 –Sabina Jeresic, sophomore graphic communication major from Croatia

“I chose A-State for its quality programs, like updated and dynamic academic course contents and comparatively lower tuition and good environment.”
 Khairul Islam, graduate student in mass communication from Bangladesh.

“I picked Arkansas State University because a high school classmate was planning to study here and told me about A-State. After researching, I found that A-State is a very quiet and beautiful campus. Some things I like about Arkansas State are that the people are very friendly and willing to help. The teachers are also encouraging to their students.”
 Beyin Fu, junior graphic communication major from China

“My favorite things to do in Jonesboro are to play rugby, hang out at the cafeteria with friends and watch A-State football. My favorite part of A-State is the people; it is what makes this place feel like home. Home will always be home but it’s nice to know that A-State gives it a good run for its money. I enjoy being here doing what I love to do and meeting some awesome people along the way.”
 –Kuda Makuvire, junior mechanical engineering major from Zimbabwe

“My favorite things to do in Jonesboro are adventuring with friends to remote hidden places such as rivers and swimming holes. I also enjoy playing pool in A-Hall and studying with my teammates. My favorite part of A-state is the southern comfort from the students and staff here. The food here reminds me of my old man’s cooking so I guess it’s homey in that way.”
 –Zach Young, freshman undecided major from Australia
